Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

WHY WE SHOULD KEEP THE PHILIPPINES.

The San Francisco Examiner to the Rescue of President McKinley and the Republican Policy.

The splendid editorial reproduced in full below was published in the San Francisco Examiner of Tuesday, August 9, 1898. It unequivocally justifies every Republican contention with regard to the Philippine policy of President McKinley and the Republican party and as fully replies to every argument advanced by the forces of Bryanism in opposition to that policy. Don't miss reading a line of it, and when you find some champion of the Examiner shouting against Republican imperialism draw this on him. His face will not give his mouth leave to speak.

"Why should we take and keep the Philippines, ask the little Americans," who fear to look outside the continent? Why should we spend money and support an army and navy to insure the peace and industry of islands seven thousand miles away? Comes the cry from those who think the nickel in the hand better than the dollar in some venturesome trade. Why should we subject our politics to the added dangers of the corruption that has overwhelmed Spain by adding colonies to our responsibilities? Asks the timid publicist who is always fearing for the stability of our institutions.

Well, we should keep the Philippines—

Because we have annihilated Spain's power in that quarter of the globe, and the responsibility for their peace and order cannot be escaped, except by loss of honor.

Because to turn them back to Spain would put them under a power which we know to be cruel and impotent; to turn them over to one of the European powers would make all the rest our enemies, and probably involve our friends in war to keep them; to leave them to themselves would be to condemn the land to anarchy.

Because it would pay.

Because the land is one of immense richness, and needs only intelligent application of modern methods to make it enormously productive.

Because the barbarous Spanish policy has kept down the trade of eight million people so that their import trade is valued at about $10,000,000 a year, and their export trade at hardly more than $20,000,000—scarcely above that of little Hawaii, which we have just annexed.

Because we need markets for our manufactures outside of our own land, which is now unable to furnish employment to all its people.

Because it will give us a favorable position to contend for the trade of the Orient.

Because the commerce of the Pacific is ready for the greatest development in history, and if it is turned this way, San Francisco, in the position to secure the bulk of the traffic between the newest continent and the oldest, will become one of the largest cities in the world.

Our responsibilities for the government of the island have come to us, and we can not shake them lightly off without incurring the reproach of inhumanity as great as that we set out to punish and overthrow.

The restricted trade and production of the islands are even now highly profitable for those who engage in them. At the touch of the American genius of production they will return great profits to the country. As for the cost of the army and navy to protect them, it will be no burden. Such troops as we maintain in the islands will be paid out of the islands' revenues, on which they will be a proper charge. For the navy, we are going to have a big navy anyhow, and it will not have to be any bigger for the possession of the Philippines. Our navy will have to be strong enough to sweep the enemy off the sea, and if it can do that, it can protect the Philippines as well as Hawaii, and Hawaii as well as San Francisco.

Of course we shall not commit any such folly as to draw tribute from the islands by taxation, but we shall draw profits from trade—a trade which will be as beneficial to the Filipinos as to our own people.

As for doubts for our ability to rule colonies wisely and justly, we are in government the heirs of the English, who have solved the problem to perfection. We can do as well as they, and if we can not construct a system we can borrow it.

The Philippines are under our hands to dispose of. Let us keep them until we are certain that there is some better way to secure the happiness of their people and our own."

Could there be a better justification of Republican policy than that afforded in the foregoing by the Examiner? And why is it now shouting "imperialism," with the rest of the Bryan shouters? Simply because the exigencies of office hunting make the bogy of imperialism the only hope of Democratic success. The heart of the Examiner is not in that work and the wires will hardly have cooled after bringing the tidings of Bryan's defeat in November when the Examiner will again hoist to its masthead the banner of expansion and tell the Bryanites "We told you so."

THAT BAD BOGY BANK MAN.

Of all the Bryanistic bogies of a bogy campaign none except the bogy of imperialism will see harder service than that bad bogy bank man who represents the "money power."

It may be observed in passing that with millions of money seeking investment in government securities at 2 per cent the locks of that Samson have been pretty effectually shorn.

A POST NUPTIAL ODE.

We used to walk together in the twilight,
He whispering tender words so sweet and low,
As down the green lanes when the dew was falling,
And through the woodlands where the birds were calling
We wandered in those hours so long ago;
But now no more we walk in purple gloaming
Adown the lanes, my love and I—ah, me;
The time has passed for such romantic roaming—
He holds the baby while I'm getting tea.

We used to sit—with lamp turned low—together
And talk of love and its divine effects,
When nights were long and wintry was the weather;
Far nobler he than knight with knightly feather
And I to him the loveliest of my sex.
Now, oft when wintry winds howl round the gable,
Immersed in smoke, he pores o'er gold and stocks,
The fact ignored that just across the table
The loveliest of her sex sits darning socks.

THE RIGHTFUL KING

He Was a Mental Wreck, but He Gave His Life For Another.

Not even the hideous pile of red brick could spoil the beauty of the asylum gardens upon an evening in June.

The huge house stood on a hillside in one of the fairest spots that ever man helped nature to make. Roses were opening on all sides, and here and there a late daffodil still lingered to make the red roses jealous with its simpler beauty.

Among the trumpets of the convolvulus sat the rightful king. He was not in state robes, nor did he wear any outward insignia of royalty. Indeed he wore a suit of decent and serviceable corduroys and a soft felt hat, which he found more comfortable than a crown. On the bench by his side was a pile of parchment deeds and legal looking papers.

The rightful king sat with his hands hanging loosely and a vacant, soulless stare in his watery old eyes. His lower lip had dropped, and his whole face was absolutely destitute of intelligence. For the moment one saw a mere statue of flesh and no more.

Suddenly footsteps were heard approaching, and there was a tinkle of feminine laughter coming through the flowers. A light began to flicker back into the lunatic's face, making it weak indeed, but not mere brute, as it had been before. Two young ladies, in cool summer frocks, accompanied by a tall young man in tweeds and with the ribbon of an Oxford college on his hat, came walking down the gravel path, laughing as they came.

The rightful king became violently agitated. He shook with eagerness, and a yearning came into his eyes like the pleading look of an unfondled dog.

"Would Miss Bremmil notice him?" That was the great question. His position as rightful king was, he well knew, one which was not well established.

Many of the other inmates of the asylum resented it and wished to attract notice for themselves and their foolish whims by minimizing his importance.

The visitors came up. "This, Lucy," said Miss Bremmil, the chaplain's daughter, to her friend, "this, Lucy, is the rightful king of England."

"If I had my rights, miss," said the old man, "I should be a-sitting on Queen Victoria's throne now."

"Incidentally," said the young man from Oxford, "he fills up his time doing a little gardening. Your majesty is fond of flowers?"

"That I be, sir," said the rightful king, touching his hat, forgetting his dignity or perhaps finding the habits of his former life in the world without the walls too strong for him.

"When I comes into my own, miss," he went on, "you shall have all the dimon's out of the Tower of London. I shan't want 'em!"

His voice sank a little and grew thin. The momentary animation died away from the foolish face. He could not think of anything more to say. He began to whistle.

The three young people looked at him pityingly, and then, with a word of farewell, passed on their way.

"I am coming as far as the end of the gardens, dear," said the chaplain's daughter to her guest. "I've no doubt Mr. Fraser will see you over the fields."

The young man gave her a look of deep gratitude. "Wonderful tact," he thought to himself.

"I hope you've not been made miserable by going over the asylum," said Miss Bremmil. "Of course, I am quite used to it, and it doesn't affect me as it must affect others."

"It is rather depressing," said the Girton girl. "I dare say you'll think me unfeeling and horrible, but if persons become hopelessly insane—really hopelessly, you know—I can't help feeling it would be better for them and for everybody else if they were painlessly put out of the way."

"You haven't lived among mad people, as I have," said the chaplain's daughter quietly. "You'd be surprised how sensible many of them are and how good also. I don't suppose that poor old rightful king ever had an unkind thought in his life. He's a dear old thing and is always bringing me flowers. He's devoted to me."

"Aren't any of the lunatics violent sometimes?" inquired the young man.

"Oh, none on this side of the building. They are harmless. Dangerous cases are kept in a separate wing. You can just see the roof over the trees. Of course I'm never allowed to go there."

"How terrible it all seems!" the Girton girl said as they entered the last long avenue, which led them to the hillside beyond.

The sun began to make ready to slip behind the hill, and it was now what the Tennyson student called "Blow, bugle, blow," time. They arrived at the stile. They turned to look back down the long and leafy avenue through which they had come. It was all irradiated with the long, level glow of the sunset. A tiny black figure at the far end, which seemed to be moving toward them, gave the scene just that little necessary note of human contrast which made it perfect.

They said good night, and the Girton girl strolled away into the purpling shadows, where she was destined to hear what she had never suspected—that love is, after all, the only higher mathematics worth the attention of a girl with soft hands and wavy hair.

Miss Bremmil walked slowly back, thinking placidly of their little romance. Suddenly she heard footsteps at her side. Some one had come out from the trees and was pacing with her. She turned hurriedly toward the sound. A man was walking by her with a peculiarly gliding, springy step. He was very tall, with a dark and rather sinister face. He was dressed in the uniform of the asylum, only with one difference—on his head he wore a yellow cap and round his arm was a broad band of yellow cloth.

She shrank back with a sick terror flowing round and round her heart like icy water. The man was one of the "dangerous" cases, and she was alone with him at nightfall, too far away to scream for aid. She was paralyzed with fear. Suddenly he turned on her with a swift snarl, like a treacherous animal. He caught her by the arms and carried her to the nearest tree, leaning her against it.

"I've wanted something like this for a long time," he said. She observed he had the voice and accents of a gentleman. He took a long strip of cloth from his pocket and made her fast to the trunk of the fir tree with it.

He drew a table knife from his pocket. The avenue was now almost dark.

As he came up to her a sound of singing came from among the trees, foolish, wayward singing, in a broad Gloucestershire accent. They distinguished the words:

"I be the rightful king
Of England, merry England."

Early in the afternoon the rightful king had been digging in a plantation of larches. He had left his spade and was now coming to fetch it.

Miss Bremmil heard the voice and gave one cry for help. The knife was dangerously near her. The rightful king came shambling up. He saw the girl tied to the tree and the man with the knife. He flung himself upon the madman with a great cry of pity and anger.

They rolled over and over on the ground, struggling fiercely, but at last the old man was mastered. He was no match for the other's demoniac strength. The girl saw the knife rise and fall, and then the air was suddenly full of whistles and red dancing lights. There were crowds of people pressing round her, and she fainted in her father's arms.

The body of the rightful king lay upon the sward. There was nothing poetic about it. In death it was even more foolish than in life.

"Poor old rightful king!" said one of the keepers. "He died for missy. Who'd have thought it? He's gone from his kingdom now."

"This is his coronation day," said the chaplain gently.—Mainly About People.

Stuck.

"And you are stuck on your last husband?" we faltered, wishing to seem very sympathetic.

The beautiful woman burst into tears.

"I never was so badly stuck on a husband in all my life!" she sobbed. "I supposed he was worth a million, and he isn't worth anything!"

In our material age, the word stuck has lost much of its tenderly sentimental significance, and is mostly used, as here, in its technical commercial sense. —Detroit Journal.

H. H. GRANICE . . . . EDITOR

CALIFORNIA is attracting through its exhibits at the Paris Exposition world-wide attention. Mr. Mills, who has charge of the Southern Pacific exhibit, under a late date writes from the French capital as follows :

"The panorama picture of the Mariposa Grove is admitted by all, including photographers, to be the most wonderful photographic reproduction that has ever been made. Only yesterday a Committee representing the greatest Fruit-Growing Association of France, to the number of fifteen, visited the office. They were in charge of their President, who is the largest individual fruit grower in the Republic. They came here to get an illustration of the industrial and climatic conditions under which our fruit is grown. I explained to them fully the prolific character of our climate, and by pictures and illustrations showed them that we had a full crop every year ; that our danger was from over-bearing ; that in no instance had we missed two crops in succession from any cause. You will scarcely understand the intense interest of this interview until it is explained that this Fruit-Growing Association practices fruit culture in two ways, wall-culture and cultivating under glass (I forego French designations). The out-door cultivation of fruit in France is extra-hazardous and is fast being superseded by the artificial means of wall and glass.

"The gentlemen who were here yesterday explained that the most profitable cultivation was that wherein all the factors of success were in the hands of the cultivator. I have used this argument many times for the promotion of the policy of irrigation. I have said that when the moisture can be controlled, both with reference to moisture and drainage, civilized culture will have been achieved ; that at that point only it becomes an art ; but where natural conditions are depended upon and are not under the control of man, the cultivation has not risen to the dignity of an art. Its main factors are at the hazard of chance.

"When I explained, however, the conditions under which fruit was grown in California, it became apparent both to myself and my auditors, that the natural conditions in California are as nearly perfect for the production of fruit as it is possible to be, and that at all events there are economies with us which will give us the fruit markets of the world. You may accept this conclusion as demonstrated by our exhibit and observation here. California is hereafter to be the orchard of the world, for reasons which will be more easily made apparent in a personal interview.

"The reason for the foregoing narration I will now present : We had exhausted the interest of the exhibit in showing the fruits, the pineapples, the dates, the prunes, the peaches, the pears, the apples, the vegetables in all their varietes, etc. The day was extremely hot and the interview had become monotonous. I called the company into an attitude in which they could get a good view of the panorama of the great tree grove. I have never heard more genuine expressions of surprise and admiration. The President of the Association, a man of fine mentality and dignity of character, said, through the interpreter to me, that the picture was the most beautiful presentation of a forest he had ever seen and the forest was the most beautiful of any that had ever been shown abroad. The forest as expressed in that picture is infinitely superior to any forestry expression possible here. The largest pine tree I saw in Germany was less than twenty-four inches in diameter, and not to exceed seventy-five feet high. After what we had told them of the favoring conditions of climate and soil, we introduced them into the heart of one of our greatest forests by the best representation which can be placed upon paper. You can have no adequate conception of how it broadened and dignified and ennobled our State. We had shown them panorama pictures, pictures of prune orchards in bloom, pictures of orchards, one of which is a most marvelous presentation, the panorama itself being six feet by fourteen inches high, and representing five hundred acres of prune orchard. We had shown them twenty-one square miles in one panorama of a fruit orchard in Vaca Valley. We had shown them large fruits and large vegetables, and all these things had appealed to them as exceptional. The panorama of the great forests of California, including the greatest trees that grow in the State, conferred upon the entire exhibit probability and confirmation.

THE OBSERVER.

The Attack on Roosevelt.

The mob of men that attacked Theodore Roosevelt in Victor, Colorado, is a disgrace to American citizenship. If such a thing were possible, every man who in any way aided or abetted the riot should be disfranchised and then kicked out of the country or put in prison. Men who cannot refrain from using clubs as an argument in a political campaign are so lacking in the qualities of judgment, restraint and obedience to law, upon which citizenship in a republic rests and which are necessary to a safe exercise of the same, that they are a menace to the nation. On thing is evident—the level of intelligence in Victor is low. It might be wise for Colorado to offer Dr. Osborne of Eldridge inducements to open a Home in Victor, for it is certain that a portion of Victor's population is suffering with that form of mental aberration known as political idiocy. If the putty-brained louts that attacked Roosevelt had put their sodden noddles together in an earnest endeavor to evolve some brilliant political manœuvre whereby he would be elected it is certain that the result of their sweaty confabulation would have fallen infinitely short of this spontaneous outburst of their fanatical enmity. Without doubt no party organization had anything to do with the riot in any way, and without a doubt it has won votes for the Republican party.

"The Examiner" and the Democratic Machine

The Democratic machine in San Francisco is in clean hands. It is under the leadership of men that the Examiner can't control. These leaders have refused Mr. Hearst's request to forsake a Judge who has done his duty honestly and fearlessly, who in so doing his duty decided against the Examiner in a libel suit. In consequence the "Monarch of the Dailies" is calling these leaders "bosses." The question before the Democrats of San Francisco is this : Shall the party be led by a screaming embodiment of self-laudation posing as the incarnation of disinterested civic virtue, but wearing the sign manual of selfishness—namely, the suppression of news inimical to its own ends—or shall the party be led by men who have stood and do stand for right ?

Bressi to be Tortured to Death.

A daily paper recently had an account of the tortures that are to wrack the very life of Bressi, the murderer of King Humbert. If the account is a true one it is high time to send missionaries of mercy to the Kingdom of Italy. The intention of the Italian government is to torture Bressi to death. He is to be immured in a cell seven feet high and three feet square; here he is to remain ten years, if he lives that long. Should he live longer than his tormentors wish he will be lowered into the viper pit. He will be naked and unarmed. He will be bitten to death. This is savagery. It is unchristian and it is inhuman. It breeds savagery, assassins and crime. It brutalizes the instincts and reasoning of the people subject to it. It is so appalling that it crazes the understanding. It is the food upon which anarchy lives and grows fat. May be the daily paper has published a lie. If so, the editor has attempted to assassinate the reputation of a government and a people. Such a one is more dangerous than many regicides.

Chinese Lies About Christians.

The feeling in China against foreigners is being stimulated by the publication of such statements as the following which appeared in a pamphlet written by a Mandarin and circulated among the people of his district : "In the case of death of a Chinaman the priest drives out of the house all the relatives and friends, and amid all kinds of formulas and behind locked doors he puts the body in a coffin. Before he does so he secretly cuts both the eyes out of the head. The reason is the following : Out of every one hundred pounds of Chinese lead eight pounds of silver can be secured, and the other ninety-two pounds can be sold at the original price. However, the only way in which this silver can be extracted is to mix it with the eyes of dead Chinese. The eyes of foreigners are perfectly useless for this purpose."

Mr. James Lane Allen, a Kentuckian, has written a book entitled "The Reign of Law," which has been published recently and has been very widely read. Mr. William J. Lampton, having in mind some recent occurrences, sent the following to the Bookman :

To James Lane Allen:

The "Reign of Law"—
　Well, Allen, you're lucky ;
It's the first time it ever,
　Rained law in Kentucky.

Consumption

is, by no means, the dreadful disease it is thought to be—in the beginning.

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is : you don't know you've got it ; you don't believe it ; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid ; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and live carefully every way.

This is sound doctrine, whatever you may think or be told ; and, if heeded, will save life.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl Street, New York.
50c. and $1.00 ; all druggists.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The Secret Service has just unearthed another band of counterfeitors in a suburb of New York City, and secured a large quantity of bogus $5 bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators, but no equals for common disorders like fever, ague, malaria, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters sets things right in the stomach and when the stomach is in good working order, it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeits when buying. Always go to reliable druggists who have the reputation of giving what you ask for.

Dr. Bogle Acquitted.

Dr. Bogle was acquitted in the Superior Court at Santa Rosa Monday night of the murder of J. M. Miller. The jury were out between five and six hours. On the first ballot they stood eleven for acquittal and one for manslaughter and the balloting so continued until the last ballot was taken.

STOPS THE COUGH AND WORKS OFF THE COLD

Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, no Pay. Price 25 cents.

COUGHS KILL

We know of nothing better than coughing to tear the lining of your throat and lungs. It is better than wet feet to cause bronchitis and pneumonia. Only keep it up and you will succeed in reducing your weight, losing your appetite, bringing on a slow fever, and making everything exactly right for the germs of consumption.

Better kill your cough before it kills you.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

kills coughs of every kind. A 25 cent bottle is just right for an ordinary cough; for the harder coughs of bronchitis you will need a 50 cent bottle; and for the coughs of consumption the one dollar size is most economical.

"My cough reduced me to a mere skeleton. I tried many remedies, but they all failed. After using the Cherry Pectoral I immediately began to improve, and three bottles restored me to health. I believe I owe my life to it."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

HE DIED SUDDENLY.

Gottlob Stier Found Dead in Bed.

Gottlob Stier, residing on his ranch near Glen Ellen, was found dead in his bed Tuesday morning. Although he had been ailing for several days the family did not consider him ill enough to send for a physician and his sudden death was a great shock to them.

The deceased was born in Germany and was aged 73 years. A wife and family of grown children survive him.

Coroner Pierce and a jury who held an inquest on the remains brought in a verdict of death from natural causes.

Music Upon Our Streets.

Thursday afternoon the residents, especially the children, were aroused to enthusiasm by the music of a brass band. Upon investigation it was found to be the fine band from the California Home at Eldridge. The players for the most part were the young men inmates, who by the kindness of the popular Superintendent, Dr. A. E. Osborne, were driven to this place. Here they discoursed music upon our streets. Several well-known residents were serenaded, among them being ye INDEX-TRIBUNE editor of Morning Glory Villa. Not only was it the Superintendent's object to afford pleasure to the citizens of this city but to instill confidence in this well disciplined band. Come again boys, you are always welcome.

The High School.

There will be a regular meeting of the High School Board of Trustees next Saturday. The painting of the exterior of the school building has been completed by V. Bulotti and his force of painters and the edifice presents a handsome appearance.

Episcopal Church at Schellville.

Services of the Episcopal Church will be held on Sunday, October 7th, at 11 A. M., in the San Luis School House by Rev. W. L. Clark. All are invited to attend.

AN IMPOSITOR.

Poses as a Free Mason and Secures 25 Cents from Robt Poppe.

Wm. H. Bailey made his appearance in this place Sunday and proceeded to work the town. To Robert Poppe he stated that he was a Free Mason and struck him for assistance. On the strength of this Bailey secured 25 cents. This money soon disappeared on the booze route and when night came he must needs find a place to sleep. Seeing the Sonoma House hall door open he entered, walked boldly up stairs and selected the finest room in the house and turned in unknown to Mrs. Glynn, the owner of the hotel. He was discovered by a guest sneaking out of the room early Sunday morning and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest on a charge of vagrancy and placed in Constable Ohm's hands. The officer arrested the offender Monday morning and took him before Judge Cheney. Bailey plead guilty to the charge and was sent to Jail for twenty days by his Honor. He is now in the county jail serving out his sentence. He has been put to work in the quarries of Santa Rosa where he is taking all the degress known in the art of stone masonry.

Death of an Editor's Wife.

Mrs. F. W. Cooke, wife of editor Cooke of the Healdsburg Tribune, died very suddenly at her home in Healdsburg on Thursday of last week. She leaves besides her husband five children to mourn her loss. We extend to Brother Cooke, whom we have known for twenty years, our sincere sympathy. Mrs. Cooke had been ailing only a few days and was supposed by her physician to be improving when she was so suddenly called away.

Off for the Paris Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hadermann, formerly of Sonoma but for the past few years residents of Gilroy, where they have been engaged in business, will leave next week for a visit to Germany. The Paris Exposition will also be taken in. They expect to be absent about a year, the most of which time will be spent at the birthplace of Mr. Hadermann near Frankfort-on-the-Main where his parents still reside.

Smoky Atmosphere.

The valley from one end to the other was enveloped in dense smoke yesterday. Evidently the forest fires in this and Marin county have got away from the fire-fighters and are now raging fiercely. Great damage has already been done in the vicinity of Novato in Marin county and Occidental in this county. The fire on the Rodehaver ranch was entirely subdued last Saturday.

No Vintage Festival.

In view of the fact that I have told a number of people who were so kind to inquire about the prospects for a Vintage Festival this year that one would be given on October 6th, I feel that it is necessary to make this public announcement that there will be no Festival. I am unable to secure Pansy Valley.

AH WA DECLARED INSANE.

Bent on Self-Destruction He is Committed to an Asylum.

Ah Wa, the well-known vegetable gardener of this place, was committed to the Ukiah asylum Sunday evening. Wa made three unsuccessful attempts at self-destruction. He first cut his throat with a knife, as narrated in these columns last week. He was patched up in a Chinese hospital in San Francisco, whither he was taken by his brother Ah Gar. A few days later he returned to Sonoma and while wandering aimlessly around he found his way into the Harper home near Schellville and took possession of the house, and did not leave until it suited his insane fancy to do so. Shortly after he was taken into custody by Officer Ohm. This was on Friday of last week. He was then placed in jail and taking his cot and placing it in an upright position knotted one end of his que around his neck and making the other end fast to the perpendicular cot attempted to hang himself. He was discovered unconscious and cut down and revived by Constable Ohm, who happened to visit the lock-up to see how his prisoner was getting along.

He was then taken to Santa Rosa on the evening train by Constable Ohm, who had a desperate struggle with the frenzied Chinese most of the way from the Southern Pacific depot in Santa Rosa to the County Jail. Ah Wa fought, scratched and wrestled and at times it looked as though the officer would be overpowered by the demented Chinaman. He finally succeeded, however, in landing his dangerous charge safely behind the bars.

Ah Wa's last attempt at suicide was just before being committed to the asylum. He broke the thick glass of his open-faced watch and made a second attempt to cut his already larceratod throat with the jagged edge of the glass, but was frustrated by the jailor.

It is now said that the loss of several hundred dollars and the flowing bowl to drown his sorrows is what deprived Ah Wa of his reason.

FROM EL VERANO.

Strawberry Fishing In Chile.

A singular custom prevails in Chile which in these days of aseptic precautions will cause a shudder among those who see infection lurking in every detail of life. It is called strawberry fishing and is conducted in this fashion:

At the close of a dinner the cloth is removed, and there is placed upon the table an immense bowl into which are emptied half a dozen bottles of Bordeaux wine, four of cherry and two of rum, besides sugar and nutmeg. Into this mixture is put a very large strawberry, which floats upon the surface. The bowl is provided with two handles. These are used to lift the vessel and tilt it so that the strawberry may be brought near the edge and sucked into the mouth. This would appear an easy feat, but it is a difficult one, as the fruit rolls over when touched with the lips. The contestant in the effort swallows a considerable quantity of the liquid concoction.

This is the reason for the game, for the bowl is passed from one to the other many times in succession before the strawberry is captured. When that moment finally arrives, all of the guests have reached a ripe stage of hilarity. This is the game as it is played among the higher classes. Among those of a lower social standing the fiery liquor of the country is substituted for wine. With them strawberry fishing develops into a function compared to which a fighting mixed ale party in this town is the recreation of a group of peace seeking Quakers.—New York Sun.

HE BEGAN ALL RIGHT

BUT THE NEW TENANT DID NOT CARRY OUT HIS PROGRAMME.

He Thought He Could Bluff the Office Elevator Boy, and There Is Where He Made an Awful Mistake—The Boy's Story of His Revenge.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

A few weeks ago, when Mr. Rockaway, the kodak agent, moved into room 68, he took an early opportunity to say to me:

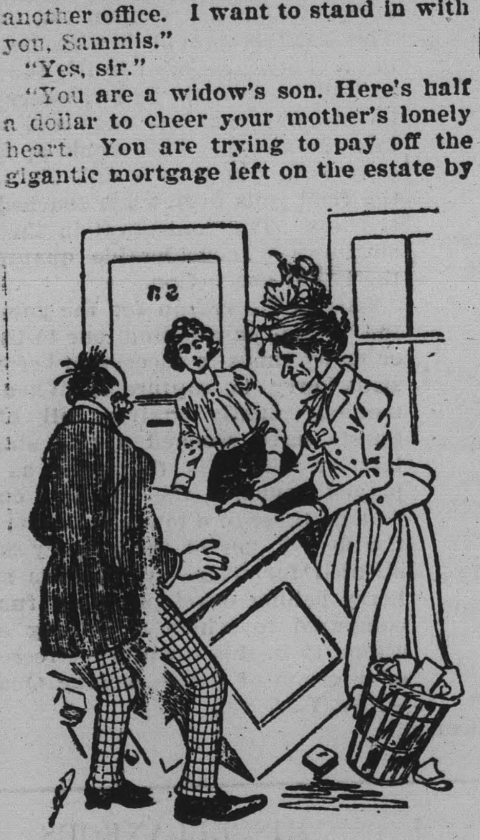
"Sammis, there are owners of skyscrapers, and there are agents and janitors of skyscrapers, but the elevator boy is the real boss."

"Yes, sir; he is," I humbly replied.

"If he stands in with the tenant, that tenant is all right; if he don't stand in, then the tenant might as well hunt for another office. I want to stand in with you, Sammis."

"Yes, sir."

"You are a widow's son. Here's half a dollar to cheer your mother's lonely heart. You are trying to pay off the gigantic mortgage left on the estate by your father. Here's another half to assist you. This is simply preparatory, Sammis. Quarters and halves and dollars will chink and rattle around here and pass from me to you with astonishing frequency. All you've got to do is to look out for my interests."



THEN SHE STARTED IN TO WRECK THINGS.

"Yes, sir."

"Should a woman call here, Sammis—an oldish woman, with red hair and a sharp nose and a voice like a file"—

"You are out, of course. She's the woman who wants contributions for the heathen, and you don't want to be bothered."

"Exactly, Sammis! And you are a jewel!" he said as he patted me on the head. "I am always to be out when she calls. You are to discourage her from calling again. You may even hint that I have removed to Chicago or St. Louis. I see you closely scrutinizing my side whiskers, Sammis. Don't you like the color?"

"Yes, sir, but they are false."

"Ah, Sammis, another quarter for the gigantic mortgage. It's a little notion of mine to wear false whiskers for a few weeks, and nothing need be said about it. What we know we know, but we keep mum about it. You trust me; I trust you. We'll make that mortgage look sick in a month or two. Ta, ta, Sammis! I think we understand each other."

I thought so, too, and it was all right for two or three weeks. Mr. Rockaway didn't come down with any more halves, but I didn't lay that up against him. It was what he said and did that hurt my feelings. One day at the fourth floor a lawyer's boy called me a sawed off liar. I stopped the elevator to punch his head and thus was late getting up to answer a call from Mr. Rockaway. He was mad about it, and, taking me by the ear, he said:

"You trifling young monkey, but I'll have no more of this! I've a good mind to report you to the agent and have you bounced! What do you mean by such conduct?"

"I'm sorry, sir."

"That makes no difference. From this time out I shall have an eye on you, and you'll either walk chalk or get the bounce. Do you hear me?"

The iron struck home. From that hour I waited and longed for a redheaded, sharp nosed woman to appear. Luck was with me. On the afternoon of the fifth day she walked in and made straight for me and said:

"Bub, I'm looking for a man named Rockaway. I'm his wife."

"Have you got business with him?" I asked.

"I have—strict business. Is there such a man in this building?"

"There is a Mr. Rockaway here, but he's got side whiskers."

"Oh, he has! Well, I'll pull 'em off in three seconds! Take me right up."

I took her up. I am not a bad elevator boy at heart, but a boy in my position has got to maintain his dignity among the tenants. I held the elevator until I saw her enter room 68 and heard the first shock of collision, and then I had business elsewhere. What happened after that was told by the typewriter in Mr. Rockaway's office. When the redheaded woman bounced into the room, she first attacked those beautiful side whiskers, and they were wrecked in a breath. Then she started in to wreck things, and her language was English and her tones loud. She had the whole floor alarmed in two minutes, and the people who rushed in found the typewriter girl hiding under the desk and Mr. Rockaway on the floor and mixed up with broken furniture. It was lively while it lasted, and the redheaded woman had breath enough left to explain that the man on his back was her lawful husband, but had run away from her in Buffalo a year before. He had nothing to say in reply, and when the agent came up and told him that he had better look for other quarters he prepared to move.

An Exclamatory Name.

"O. Mye," called the justice in the Harrison street police court today, and a silence fell over the room, while the crowd looked around to see why the justice had uttered the sudden exclamation.

"O. Mye! O. Mye!" again called the magistrate, more loudly, and Bailiff Barnet hurried to the bar and asked the justice what was offending his dignity.

"Call O. Mye, Mr. Bailiff," ordered the court, and Barnett repeated the words in tones that could be heard on the street. The officer glared about for the person who he thought was guilty of contempt of court, and when a meek appearing man left his seat and walked toward the bar Barnett seized him and declared him under arrest.

"Is this the man who is guilty, your honor?" asked the bailiff.

"What is your name?" asked the court, without heeding Barnett's question.

"O. Mye," answered the prisoner, and the bailiff took a tighter hold on his collar.

"O. Mye?" queried the court.

"Yes, your honor," from the prisoner.

Then it dawned on the bailiff that he had made a mistake. O. Mye, who said his first name was Oliver, had been arrested for begging on the street. When the policeman who arrested him told him that he had abused several persons who had refused him alms, his name was uttered by several in the court. The prisoner likewise said "Oh, my!" when he got a fine of $50.—Chicago News.

Dormant Bank Accounts.

In the Bowery Savings bank, New York, there are about 450 dormant accounts, representing $51,000. Under the head of "dormant" accounts are placed those which have given no sign of life in the way of draft or deposit for 22 years. These accounts result from many causes, such as crime, loss of memory or reason, sudden death or neglect on the part of the depositor to make a proper memorandum of where he placed the money.

CURED OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA AFTER THIRTY YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by F. Duhring.

A Few Pointers.

The recent statistics of the number of deaths show that the large majority die of consumption. This disease may commence with an apparently harmless cough which can be cured instantly by Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, which is guaranteed to cure and relieve all cases. Price 25c and 50c. For sale by all druggists.

At Bed Time

I take a pleasant herb drink, the next morning I feel bright and my complexion is better. My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a gentle laxative. It is made from herbs, and is prepared as easily as tea. It is called Lane's Medicine. All druggists sell it at 25cts and 50cts. Lane's family medicine moves the bowels each day. If you cannot get it, send for a free sample. Address, Orator F. Woodward, Le Roy, N. Y.

MOKI TEA POSITIVELY CURES SICK headache, indigestion and constipation. A delightful herb drink. Removes all eruptions of the skin, producing a perfect complexion, or money refunded. 25cts and 50cts. For sale by R. G. Shoults, druggist, Sonoma.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder. It cures painful, smarting, nervous feet and ingrowing nails, and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Your Face

Shows the state of your feelings and the state of your health as well. Impure blood makes itself apparent in a pale and sallow complexion, Pimples and Skin Eruptions. If you are feeling weak and worn out and do not have a healthy appearance, you should try Acker's Blood Elixir. It cures all blood diseases where cheap Sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail; knowing this, we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee. For sale by R. G. Shoults, Druggist, Sonoma.

ACKER'S ENGLISH REMEDY WILL stop a cough at any time, and will cure the worst cold in twelve hours, or money refunded. 15 cts and 50 cts. For sale by R. G. Shoults, Druggist, Sonoma.

SICK HEADACHE ABSOLUTELY and permanently cured by using Moki Tea. A pleasant herb drink. Cures constipation and indigestion, makes you eat, sleep, work and happy. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. 25cts and 50cts. For sale by R. G. Shoults, Druggist, Sonoma.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by F. Duhring.

The White is King of Sewing Machines and Bicycles.

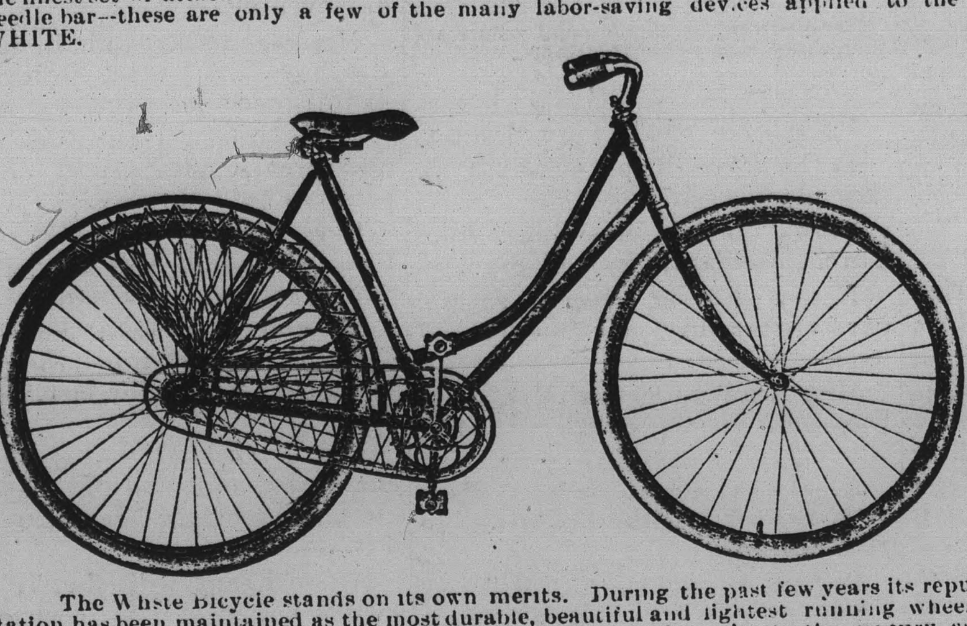
The application of ball bearings to our Sewing Machines has reduced friction to a minimum and emphasizes more strongly than ever the title of "LIGHT RUNNING WHITE." Elegantly embossed woodwork, smooth band iron-work easily kept clean, the finest set of attachments, automatic tension indicator and releaser, oil cups and needle bar—these are only a few of the many labor-saving devices applied to the WHITE.



The White Bicycle stands on its own merits. During the past few years its reputation has been maintained as the most durable, beautiful and lightest running wheel. The White holds all Pacific Coast records, from a quarter of a mile to the century, as well as the world's mile record, and in the International Six-Day Tournament, held in San Francisco last year, the White won four out of eight prizes, no other make of wheel taking more than one of the rest. We have dealers in Sewing Machines and Bicycles almost everywhere. If there is none in your town, write for catalogue and prices.

FOR MALARIA, CHILLS AND FEVER.

The Best Prescription Is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The Formula Is Plainly Printed on Every Bottle, So That the People May Know Just What They Are Taking.

Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called "Tasteless" chill tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

A Mother's Plain Words

"I suppose you will be astonished when I tell you that six years ago I was in a most dangerous condition with bronchitis and lung trouble, because you can see how well and strong I am now. The attack at that time caused terrible pain in my chest and lungs. I could hardly move, and to stoop caused intense suffering. Someone advised Acker's English Remedy, and I thought I would try it, although I confess that down in my heart I had little faith in it. The first bottle gave great relief, and the second bottle made me the healthy woman I am today. My husband's lungs are weak also, and he cured himself with the same grand old remedy. Our boy and girl have both been saved by it from death by croup. I know this is so, for when they were attacked in the night I had a bottle in the closet, and by acting quickly that fatal malady was easily overcome. We always give it to the children when they have a cough or cold, and we would not be without it for anything. My sister will tell you also, if you ask her, that it is a medicine that can always be depended upon for all the troubles of the breathing organs. I tell all our neighbors about Acker's English Remedy whenever I get a chance, and there are plenty of people around Mechanicsville, N. Y., where I live, who would no more think of going to bed at night without a bottle of it in the house than they would of leaving their doors wide open. As I look at it, parents are criminally responsible when they allow their children to die under their very eyes with croup, because there is a certain remedy that will conquer the terrible monster every time."

(Signed) MRS. FLOYD FOWLER.

Acker's English Remedy is sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee that your money will be refunded in case of failure. 25c., 50c., and $1 a bottle in United States and Canada. In England, 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., and 4s. 6d.
